

DOCUMENT No. 74: NSC 158, "United States Objectives and Actions to Exploit the Unrest in the Satellite States," 29 June 1953

Authorized by the National Security Council to explore a possible U.S. response to the unrest in Eastern Europe, the PSB developed an action plan, PSB D-45. The Board adopted a summary of PSB D-45 on 24 June. The plan envisaged aggressive psychological warfare to exploit and heighten the unrest behind the Iron Curtain, including proposals to create resistance cells, increase defections, launch black radio intruder operations and even "encourage the 'elimination' of key puppet officials." (These portions of the document have only recently been declassified.) The NSC approved the plan on 25 June with amendments (see previous document). The next day, Eisenhower endorsed the policy directive.

by all appropriate executive departments and agencies of the U.S. Government under the coordination of the Psychological Strategy Board. The President directs, as recommended by the Council, that more emphasis be placed upon passive resistance in implementing paragraph 2-a. The report of the Psychological Strategy Board, as amended by the Council and approved by the President, is enclosed herewith.

Special security precautions are requested in the handling of the enclosure.

the National Security Council on Interim United States Objectives and Actions
To Exploit the Unrest in the Satellite States

1. Psychological Objectives

- a. To nourish resistance to communist oppression throughout satellite Europe, short of mass rebellion in areas under Soviet military control, and without compromising its spontaneous nature.
- b. To undermine satellite puppet authority.
- c. To exploit satellite unrest as demonstrable proof that the Soviet Empire is beginning to crumble.
- d. To convince the free world, particularly Western Europe, that love of liberty and hatred of alien oppression are stronger behind the Iron Curtain than it has been dared to believe and that resistance to totalitarianism is less hopeless than has been imagined.

2. Courses of Action—Phase I (requiring less than 60 days to initiate)

- a. In East Germany and other satellite areas, where feasible, covertly stimulate acts and attitudes of resistance short of mass rebellion aimed at putting pressure on Communist authority for specific reforms, discrediting such authority and provoking open Soviet intervention.
- b. Establish, where feasible, secure resistance nuclei capable of further large-scale expansion.
- c. Intensify defection programs, aimed at satellite police leaders and military personnel (especially pilots) and Soviet military personnel.
- d. Stimulate free world governmental, religious, and trade union activities capable of psychological effect behind the Iron Curtain, such as:
 - (1) International campaign to honor martyrs of the East German revolt.
 - (2) Free trade union denunciation of Soviet repression and demand for investigation of basic economic and labor conditions.

e. Reemphasize U.S. support for German unity based on free elections followed by a Peace Treaty.

f. Implement NSC 143/2 (Volunteer Freedom Corps) completing discussions as soon as possible with Allied governments.

g. Consider bringing Soviet repression of East German revolt before the UN.

h. Launch black radio intruder operations to encourage defection.

i. Encourage elimination of key puppet officials.

3. Courses of Action—Phase II (requiring lengthy preparation contingent upon developments)

a. Organize, train and equip underground organizations capable of launching large-scale raids or sustained warfare when directed.

b. Consider U.S. advocacy of (1) free elections in the satellites and association with the Western European community, with emphasis on economic cooperation and rehabilitation, and (2) subsequent withdrawal of all foreign troops from Germany, Austria and the satellites.

c. Consider new forms of covert organizations based on concepts of:

(1) Simulating Soviet officer conspiracy to establish honorable peace with the West.

(2) Cooperation between satellite resistance elements and nationalists in non-Russian, Soviet Republics.

(3) Cultural appeals to Soviet intellectuals.

d. Consider inclusion of USSR nationals in Phase II of Volunteer Freedom Corps project.

e. Consider large-scale systematic balloon propaganda operations to the satellites.
