Republic of Vietnam

President of the Republic

Saigon, November 10, 1955

Dear General:

I have been very sensible to your letter of October 15, 1955, and I want to reply for your letter personally to express my thanks to you.

As you yourself have assured them, the three points you have emphasized are the objectives of politics which the Government of the Vietnam has pursued until to the present.

I hope that the solidarity which made the countries free in this part of the world will contribute to the reinforcement of aid which we receive from and wait for from the United States of America for the defense of our ideals.

I avail myself of this opportunity to renew to you the assurances of my highest consideration.
