Spasowski

For the information of: Siedlecki, Thee, Haraśny, Mikołaj nry, a counselor of the US embassy [in Saigon], invited me for dinner, just the two of us. The purpose of the invitation:

a) Establishing a private [and] convenient contact [between] the [US] embassy

[and the Polish] delegation.

b) A general probe preceding a possible conversation with Lodge. c) Obtaining information about my conversation with Nhu.

garding c) – I said: it took place on the initiative of Nhu, the invitation came through the communication mission. N.[hu] said what he wanted, my questions pertained only [regarding carrying out] the Geneva Accords. As to the question how the Ministry of Foreign Affairs [of the DRV?] assesses the results of the conversation, I said: there is nothing to assess, because Nhu did not say anything new and important, and [besides] visits at the representatives' of both governments are normal for the commission [ICC], as for example, a recent visit of Canadian Ambassador [to the ICC - Gordon Edwin Cox] with the Prime Minister of North [Vietnam].

nry spoke with enmity [animosity] about Diem, his regime and ideology.

e Vietnamese comrades relayed the assessment of [my] conversation with Nhu, [it's] not concrete, but they are pleased with the fact that and are asking to maintain contact.

I will discuss this [issue] in Hanoi in the spirit of your 10016.
