His Excellency President Syngman Rhee
Kyung Mu Dai
Seoul, Korea

Dear Mr. President:

The occasion of the seventh anniversary of Constitution Day, commemorating the adoption of the Constitution of the Republic of Korea, gives me the welcomed opportunity to extend heartiest congratulations to you and to the people of the Republic of Korea.

In its brief and turbulent history, the Republic has proved steadfast and resolute in its determination to remain a free and independent nation. Its open defiance and militant resistance to Communism has won the respect and admiration of the entire free world. That the people of South Korea rallied so vigorously to protect their country and their Constitution is a positive indication that the Republic of Korea will endure for all time. With similar determination and vigor your people have now turned their energies to the continued protection of their country and toward rebuilding its economy and removing the scars of war.

The officers and men of Eighth Army join me in extending our very best wishes. I am confident that the people of the Republic of Korea will ever continue to safeguard their sacred Constitution and the ideals it enhances.

Sincerely yours,

J. H. Collier
Lieutenant General
Deputy Army Commander
